DUNS: Still Globally Relevant Today

- Global organizations use DUNS: UN, WCO, European Commission, ITDS.
- Banks use DUNS for credit evaluation and loan processing.
- FDA and FSVP require DUNS for compliance and imports.
- UAE, Germany, Japan use DUNS for business registration.
- DUNS is tied to business credit history globally.

DUNS: Your Global Business ID

01 DUNS number provides significant advantages in international trade verification.

02 Maintaining DUNS and UEI enhances business credibility internationally.

03 Private sector partners often request businesses maintain a DUNS number.

04 DUNS is crucial for identification and verification in global operations.

DUNS: Financial Institutions' Key Tool

01 — Financial institutions utilize DUNS for business credit evaluation.

02 — DUNS number establishes business creditworthiness globally.

03 — Banks and lenders employ DUNS for loan application processing.

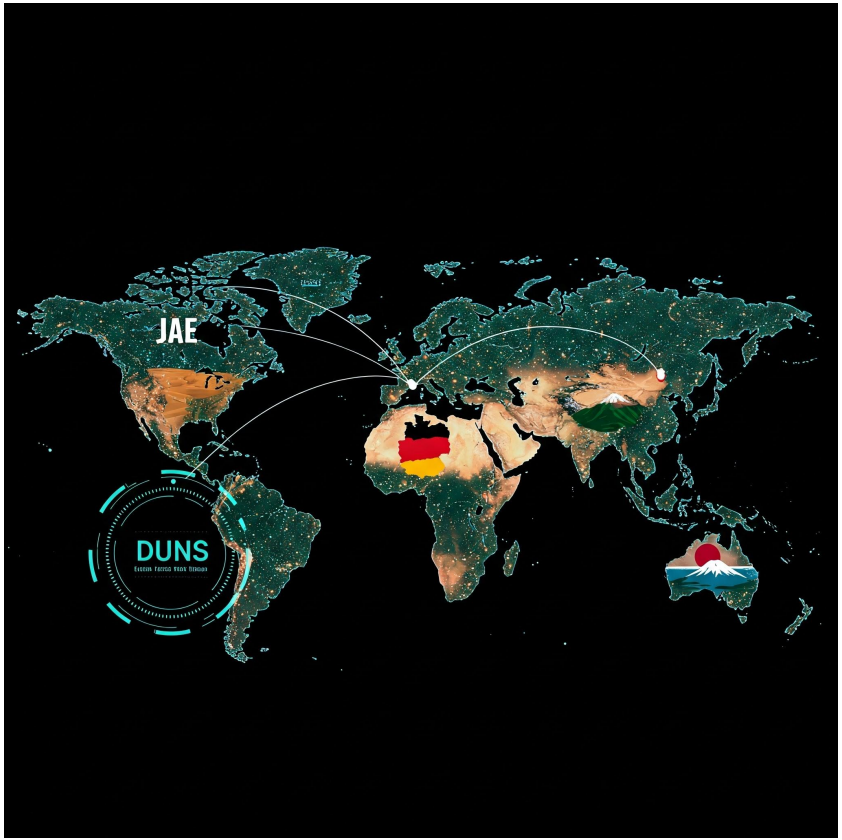
04 — Risk assessment is conducted by financials using DUNS data.

DUNS: Private Sector Essentials

- DUNS mandatory for food and drug facilities.
- FSVP importers require DUNS for compliance.
- Large corporations require DUNS for vendors.
- DUNS often requested for B2B relationships.

DUNS: Global Business Backbone

- Governments in UAE require DUNS for business registration.
- Germany's UPIK system standardizes DUNS for business ID.
- Japan uses DUNS as the primary global identifier.
- Many insurers still use DUNS for risk assessment.
- DUNS facilitates international trade verification across borders.

DUNS: Enduring Global Identifier


- DUNS used by UN, WCO, European Commission, ITDS.
- Financial institutions use DUNS for credit and loans.
- FDA, FSVP, vendors, and partnerships often require DUNS.
- DUNS is used for business registration in UAE, Germany, Japan.
- Global recognition, infrastructure, history, and transactions support DUNS.